ABSTRACT

Abdul Hadiy Nurbekti: IMPLEMENTATION OF DEVELOPMENT INNOVATION PROGRAMS AND REGIONAL EMPOWERMENT IN A COLLABORATIVE DYNAMICS STUDY IN THE PANJUNAN SUB-DISTRICT BANDUNG CITY

Since the regional autonomy policy is rolled out, according to the mandate of Law Number 23 of 2014 about Local Government, a region is given the authority to treat and advance the areas according to the characteristics of the areas, respectively. Responding to that, a government of Bandung City rolled out a program to actualize the democratization of local development by a collaborative approach between stakeholders, namely the Regional Development and Empowerment Innovation Program (PIPPK). However, the implementations always get the progress, include the problems, especially the collaboration between the actors of PIPPK in Panjunan Village.

The purpose of this study was to find out the implementation of the Regional Development and Empowerment Innovation Program (PIPPK) in a collaborative study dynamically in Panjunan Village of Bandung City.

The study used the theory of collaborative governance regimes with the concept of dynamic collaboration from Emerson and Nabatchi by the dimension of principled engagement, shared motivation, and capacity for joint action.

The study will use a qualitative method with a descriptive approach. The data collection techniques were an observation technique, structured and unstructured interviews, documentation, and visual materials, with six interviewees who knew about this research directly. To check the data validity, it used data triangulation.

Based on this study, dynamic collaboration in the Regional Development and Empowerment Innovation Program in Panjunan Village has been running by involving the government, Village Community Institution (LKK), and the community. Each actor exchanged information related to the needs and obstacles in applying the PIPPK so that there would be a joint decision. Hence, there were still things that were not running effectively because of the weaknesses of some components such as shared motivation and capacity for joint action in carrying out a collaborative process.
