Dear Editor
International Journal of Science Review
(INFLUENCE Journal)

I read and use scientific articles published in INFLUENCE Journal.

The performance of the INFLUENCE Journal was excellent, and the published article helped me conduct research and write scientific reports.

I am li Sumantri, Researcher from UIN Sunan Gunung Djati Bandung, Indonesia.

I have completed a scientific article entitled "Digital Transformation in Public Policy during the New Order at the Regional Revenue and Management Agency of Sumedang Regency."

I hope this article can be published in the INFLUENCE Journal because exciting findings in the scientific report can become new treasures in science, especially in social sciences.

I am willing to go through the review process following INFLUENCE Journal standards.

Best Regards,

li Sumantri
UIN Sunan Gunung Djati Bandung, Indonesia

Editor and Reviewer comments:

Reviewer #1:

1. Scope Expansion: This article focuses on digital transformation in the Regional Revenue and Management Agency of Sumedang Regency. However, it would be better if there was a little explanation about the impact and implications of digital transformation for the community or stakeholders outside the institution. This will provide a more comprehensive picture of the relevance and contribution of digital transformation in a broader context.
2. More Detailed Methodology: This article's description of the research method is too brief. It is recommended to provide a more detailed description of the qualitative approach used and how the data was collected and analyzed. This will strengthen the reliability and confidence of the readers in the findings produced in the research.
3. Practical Implications: This article can be enriched by presenting the practical implications of the research findings. How can digital transformation in this institution provide concrete benefits, increase efficiency, or make positive changes in the delivery of public services? Presenting the practical implications will help readers understand the relevance of this research in the context of public policy in more depth.
4. Consistency in the use of terms: Pay attention to the consistency of terms in this article. For example, there are terms "Electronic Based Government System (SPBE)" and "e-office", which are used interchangeably. Explaining these terms clearly and consistently is important so readers are not confused. Also, be sure to define terms that are not commonly used so that readers unfamiliar with the topic can also understand them.
5. Emphasis on Research Contribution: In conclusion, it is important to emphasize the contribution of this research in the context of scientific knowledge. How does this research contribute to our understanding of digital transformation in the public sector, especially in times of change such as the Covid-19 pandemic? Clearly state what can be learned and how this research's results can significantly contribute to the relevant literature.

I hope you can make improvements as soon as possible and send the revised article again via this email.

Dear

li Sumantri
UIN Sunan Gunung Djati Bandung, Indonesia

Thank you for your efforts to make improvements to your article.
Based on the Reviewers' considerations, the article has, at some point, increased.
However, you have to improve on a few more points. Hopefully, you are willing to do it.
Please follow the following revision instructions:

#Reviewer 2:

1. In-depth Analysis of Findings: In the findings section, there is a need for a more in-depth analysis of research results. For example, explain in more detail how e-Office policies have specifically increased efficiency or changed business processes in the Regional Revenue and Management Agency of Sumedang Regency. Support your findings with concrete examples or quantitative data whenever possible.
2. Discussion on Challenges and Obstacles: Add a section that discusses the challenges and obstacles faced during the digital transformation process. Identifying and analysing emerging issues can provide a complete understanding of the implementation of e-Office policies. Also, discuss the efforts to overcome these challenges and how this can be a valuable lesson for similar institutions.
3. More Concise Conclusions: Revised the conclusions to provide a more concise summary of the main findings and their implications. Avoid repeating information already presented in other parts of the article. State clearly and unequivocally what has been learned from this research and how it can contribute to the understanding and development of public policy.
4. Use of More Recent References: Update the references in your articles to make them more current. If new research or resources are relevant to the digital transformation or public policy field, be sure to include references. This will strengthen your knowledge base and demonstrate your awareness of the latest research in the field.
5. Implications for Future Research: Submit suggestions or questions for future research that might arise from your findings. This will open up opportunities for further digital transformation and public policy exploration. Include new ideas about what aspects could be investigated further or research areas that may not have been properly explored.

Articles that have been revised and please send them back via this email.
