Cecep Wahyu Hoerudin:

The Remittances Review Editorial Board has reviewed your article, the research topic is very interesting, but we decided that your article could not be accepted immediately. You must improve your article on several points.

I am sure you are willing to make this improvement because your scientific articles must meet Remittances Review standards. Please correct your article according to the instructions from the Remittances Review reviewers.

Reviewer 1:

The article provides a comprehensive overview of the importance of Indonesian language education for leaders in terms of effective communication and promoting national identity. The content is well-structured and highlights key points regarding the impact of language proficiency on leadership effectiveness. However, it would greatly benefit from incorporating more empirical evidence or case studies to support the arguments presented. Including specific examples of leaders who have successfully utilized Indonesian language skills to connect with their constituents and reinforce national unity would strengthen the article's credibility. Additionally, providing practical strategies or recommendations for incorporating Indonesian language education into leadership development programs would be valuable for readers seeking actionable insights. Overall, with the inclusion of more concrete examples and practical guidance, this article has the potential to be an even stronger resource for those interested in the topic.

Reviewer 2:

The article sheds light on the significance of Indonesian language education for leaders, emphasizing the importance of effective communication and fostering national identity. The author presents a compelling case for the role of language proficiency in leadership, and the article is well-written with a clear structure. However, it lacks a global perspective and could benefit from exploring the experiences of leaders from other countries who have prioritized language education to enhance their leadership skills. This would provide a broader context and make the article more relevant to an international audience. Additionally, including references to relevant research studies or academic sources would enhance the article's credibility and appeal to readers seeking evidence-based insights. Overall, with a more global outlook and inclusion of scholarly references, the article would have a wider appeal and greater academic rigor.

I hope you can make improvements as soon as possible, and send the revised article again via this email.

If you have any questions, please contact me. Thank you for considering this journal as a venue for your work.

Cecep Wahyu Hoerudin:

Based on Reviewers' considerations, the article has, at some point, increased. However, you have to improve on a few more points. Hopefully, you are willing to do it.

Please follow the following revision instructions:

Reviewer 1:

Thank you for the improvements made to this article. The addition of concrete examples of leaders who have successfully utilized Indonesian language skills to connect with their constituents and reinforce national unity is a significant step forward. These examples provide strong illustrations of how Indonesian language education can have a positive impact on leadership. Furthermore, the inclusion of practical strategies or recommendations on how to incorporate Indonesian language education into leadership development programs would be highly beneficial for readers seeking actionable guidance. With these improvements, the article becomes a more comprehensive and valuable resource for those interested in the topic. Thank you for your efforts in enhancing the quality of this article.

Reviewer 2:

I appreciate the revisions made to this article. The emphasis on the importance of Indonesian language education for leaders in terms of effective communication and promoting national identity remains strong. Introducing a global perspective by involving the experiences of leaders from other countries who have prioritized language education to enhance their leadership skills is a significant step. This provides a broader context and makes the article more relevant to an international audience. Additionally, referencing relevant research studies or academic sources would add further strength to the article and make it more credible for readers seeking evidence-based insights. With these improvements, the article will be stronger in terms of global relevance and have higher academic rigor. Thank you for your efforts in substantially improving this article.

I hope you can make improvements as soon as possible, and send the revised article again via this email.

If you have any questions, please contact me. Thank you for considering this journal as a venue for your work.
